Canadian Cookery

Summer, 2020 | List No. 19

1. Renaud, Helena.

The Canadian Home Cookbook.

New York: Grosset & Dunlap, [Circa 1939]. pp. x, 394., [14] leaves of plates: ill. (some col.); 22 cm. Near fine in brown cloth with blind-stamped blue lettering to front cover and spine and housed in very good+ colour-illustrated original dust-jacket now housed in protective mylar. Title page and front cover show illustrations of measuring spoons. Remarkably nice condition. Driver (US4.1) states that this is likely an American book, retitled for distribution in Canada - one of the American editions being 'The American Home Cook Book, published by Grosset and Dunlap in 1939. Includes 21-page index. At time of cataloguing, only one (preserve) listing on AMICUS. Driver, in Culinary Landmarks, pp. 1162-33, lists two known Canadian copies - one preserve copy at L.A.C., mentioned above, and one at North York Central Library (now amalgamated with TPL). Rare. Hardcover. (#122) $200.00

2. York, Brenda (pseudonym for Kathleen Hodgins).

Margene Recipe Book [Cover Title: New Margene Recipes].

Toronto: Canada Packers Ltd., [1949]. pp. 40. 12 mo. (13 cm x 21.5 cm). Stapled card covers. Profusely illustrated, endpapers are comprised of foil. This is a Canadian cookery book featuring (according to the printer of the book - see Driver) the art of A.J. Casson, member of the iconic Canadian Group of Seven artists. See Driver, #0130.1 (p. 919) for a detailed description of this title. Also, a colour illustration of the cover of this book is to be found in the illustrations at the centre of Driver's book (unpaginated section). Driver gives the publishing date as about 1949. For a biographical note, re: the author, see Driver, p. 918. Driver notes that margarine, a substitute for butter, was legalized in Canada at the end of 1948. Very lightly rubbed covers, contents clean and unmarked with tight, sound binding; very good+ to near fine. From Driver: "According to Katy Hodgins, the printer of the book was the Toronto firm Sampson-Matthews, and the art director, A.J. Casson (of Group of Seven fame). Casson's distinctive design incorporated foil leaves at front and back, mimicking Margene's foil wrapper; on the front face of the binding, part of the image of the block of margarine is cut out, revealing the foil leaf behind." Stapled Wraps. (#151) $140.00

From the Foreword: "Food has always played a vital role in the life of a nation. But never before in the history of our country has its wise use been more important than it is at present, since we must feed our Army all over the world and our civilian population, and help to feed our allies. While there is enough food to provide good nutrition for everyone here at home, not all foods will be available in the quantities to which we have been accustomed to having them. The scarcest foods are rationed ... But even with rationing it is not always possible to obtain foods for which stamps are available. Because of this and the uncertainties in the supplies of some unrationed foods, the person responsible for meal planning must know the substitutions that can be made and still provide interesting and attractive meals that will protect the health of the family. This means using the same foods in a variety of ways, using leftovers, and cooking foods so that all of their original value will be preserved. The recipes and suggestions in this book are intended to help the homemaker with this important task". Stapled Wraps. (#800) $75.00

Exceedingly rare in commerce, and unrecorded in OCLC. See Driver, Culinary Landmarks, p. 1017, S78.1. Driver notes: "From appearances, the cookbook was likely published about 1938-9. There are some blank pages impressed with 'Seal Farmers Cattle Exchange Ltd. Saskatoon.'" We note as well that Driver could not locate any institutional holdings of this title, with only one known copy in a private collection. Rare indeed. (#1635) $495.00

71. Cornell, Anna May (Compiled by).

3 Meals a Day: A Menu for Every Meal for a Year.

[Toronto, Ontario, Canada]: Canadian Westinghouse Co., Limited, ND [Circa 1938-39]. First Edition, First Printing. Unpaginated. [pp. 28]. Oblong 8vo., measuring 10.1" x 7.25". Illustrated stapled covers in black, green, and white. A promotional cookbook ostensibly targeting housewives, published by the Canadian subsidiary of the Westinghouse Co., Limited - manufacturers of refrigerators, and small household appliances - advocating for the use of their products by virtue of their ability to preserve perishable foods for longer. Features a remarkably assembled collection of recipe ingredients for every day of the year. The introductory preface states: "On the right hand of this book will be found a set of shopping lists, covering the foods needed for the menus shown on the accompanying left hand pages. Two shopping lists are given each week. The first shows the food cost with-out a Westinghouse Refrigerator, where perishable goods has to be purchased in small quantities and where it was impossible to take advantage of the week-end prices features by most [grocery] stores. The second list in each case shows the food cost WITH a Westinghouse Refrigerator, where meats, fresh fruits, salads, and vegetables as well as canned goods, cream, etc., could be purchased in economically large quantities and where it was possible to take advantage of all week-end specials offered by the [grocery] stores." Light rubbing, edgewear to the covers, contents remain bright, clean, and unmarked. Overall, very good. Stapled Wraps. Exceedingly rare, unrecorded in OCLC, and unavailable in commerce at time of cataloguing. NOT in Driver. We do note the presence of two similar titles in Driver's 'Culinary Landmarks', however neither appear to be related to this title and make not mention of the publisher (Westinghouse) or author (Anna May Cornell). Rare indeed. (#1636) $195.00

73. [Standard Brands Limited].

A Family Tradition; The MAGIC BAKING POWDER Cook Book.

Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver: Standard Brands Limited, N.D. [Circa 1940]. First Edition, First Printing. pp. 32. Small 8vo., measuring 6" x 9". Bright beautifully colour illustrated stapled card covers featuring a trio of women (mother, grandmother, daughter) with a container of Magic Baking Powder. Booklet comprised of many hundreds of recipes incorporating the use of Standard Brands' "MAGIC BAKING POWDER". Rear cover includes colour advertisements for other Standard Brands products, including a notice to consumers: "Magic Baking Powder is made in Canada and does not contain Alum. All ingredients are plainly stated on the label. Alum is sometimes referred to as Sulphate of Alumina or Sodid Aluminic Sulphate. The public should not be misled by these technical names." Sections include: Biscuits, Cakes, Muffins, "10 Famous Cake Recipes", Six Prize-Winning Recipes, Icings and Frostings, Recipes for Good Home-Made Bread and Sweet Goods, Special Recipes for Odd Occasions, and many others. No detectable flaws, contents bright, clean and unmarked with tight, sound binding; fine. Scarce. See Driver, Culinary Landmarks (p. 712, O702.9). Driver states the following regarding the date of publication: "Editions where the binding has an image of three women and the slogan 'a family tradition' or 'Une tradition de famille' were published about 1940. The evidence for this date is in a letter of 1 June 1991 to me, from an owner of one of these English editions: "This little cookbook while we were having lunch in Halifax while on our honeymoon in late July, 1940. My husband who had a general store recognized the salesman from Standard Brands who was sitting near us." Stapled Wraps. (#1640) $59.00

119. Stefansson, Vilhjalmur; Earnest A. Hooton (Intro.); Eugene F. Du Bois (Intro.)

Not By Bread Alone.

New York: The Macmillan Company | Printed by J.J. Little & Ives Company, New York, 1946. First Edition, First Printing. pp. xvi, 339. 8vo., measuring 22 x 15 cm. Green cloth over boards with white lettering, and rules to the front board and spine. Light bumping to spine ends, one very miniscule spot to the base of the spine. Internally, the contents remain remarkably bright, clean, and unmarked with tight, square binding. A very presentable copy indeed, of an important anthropological work on the eating habits of the Inuit communities of Northern Canada thus, making Stefansson an early, and inadvertent proponent of what would later become known as the 'Ketogenic diet' (or No-Carb Diet). Overall, very good. Scarce in commerce and in this condition. Hardcover. (#2089) $175.00

Cet ouvrage contient en plus un très grand nombre d'observations utiles destinées à l'emploi de la farine Five Roses dans les différents genres de mets. Le tour vérifié et approuvé.

Montréal: Publié par les fabricants de la farine Five Roses, Lake of the Woods Milling Co. Woods Milling Company, 1915. First Edition, First Printing (French-Language Edition). pp. 183 [i.e. 187] pages. Gorgeously illustrated art-nouveau style card covers bearing a small publishers' hole-punch to the upper left corner of the front cover for hanging. Handsomely illustrated throughout with many colour illustrations of a variety of baked goods, many full-page. The original two to three coupons printed on the ffep have been neatly excised. Otherwise, remarkably well-preserved, with contents bright, clean, and unmarked and tight, sound binding. Text entirely in French. Overall, very good+ to near fine. Exceedingly rare in commerce in this edition, and in such lovely condition. Card Covers. Corresponds to OCLC #1036120674 and #1007344466 indicating only a handful of Canadian institutional holdings. At time of cataloguing this edition does not appear amongst the holdings at Guelph University Archives & Special Collections: Cookbook Collection, or McGill. See Drivers' Culinary Landmarks, Citation No. Q79.4 (p. 138) wherein she states: "The French-language edition is not a straight translation of the English edition. The most obvious change is the new title - La Cuisinière Five Roses - meaning the Five Roses Cook - and a new design for the binding in an art-nouveau style. Instead of an image of a child stirring the contents of a bowl, there is an image of a woman ('la Cuisinière') reading this cookbook; the image is signed by the artist M.C. Perley. The design of the English-language edition can be described as 'cute'; the design of the French edition, as sophisticated". (#2170) $295.00
